Going for the Gold

By Lamar Miller, Minister of Outreach

The winter Olympics will be ending soon and there will be many medals handed out. I enjoy the winter Olympics very much. I am always impressed with the athletes and what they are able to do in their particular sport. These athletes spend days often years trying to perfect their ability to be the best at what they are passionate about. Despite injuries and multiple failures they get back up and continue. They push through those times knowing that if they perform well, they have a chance at a gold medal.

This made me think about our own talents, passions and efforts that we use every day. What is it that we are hoping to receive? Is it fame, recognition, wealth, or something else? I hope we are looking for a prize greater than those. God calls us to a higher calling. He has commissioned us as his ambassadors to share his love with others, to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

I believe we could learn a few things from the Olympic athletes that can be applied to us and sharing the Gospel. One of the first things we can learn from them is you don't get great at something without practicing or doing it over and over again. How often do we practice sharing the Gospel or how often do we actually share the Gospel? The more we do this the more comfortable we become with it. It could even take years before we are really good at it, but if we are committed to following his call we will continue to try to improve.

The second item I mentioned was that the athletes get back up despite injury and failures. We as Christ followers should have the same mindset. We should continue even though we get hurt or feel we fail at times. Sharing the Gospel can be hard, but be strong and courageous like the Olympic athlete and go for the Gold, the streets of Gold

Jesus Christ

We believe in Jesus Christ, the Word of God become flesh. He is the Savior of the world, who has delivered us from the dominion of sin and reconciled us to God by his death on a cross. He was declared to be Son of God by his resurrection from the dead. He is the head of the church, the exalted Lord, the Lamb who was slain, coming again to reign with God in glory.
